Proper table manners are a valued skill, and its one of the most powerful ways in which others judge our children. Children don't just learn proper table manners on their own. They need to be taught and reminded how to properly use table etiquette on a daily basis.

This intimate, hands-on workshop with one-on-one coaching from master etiquette coach, Starla West, will provide the Terre Haute area's children and teens with the social confidence they need to comfortably enjoy all dining environments. As young children gain this confidence, parents can take pride in knowing their children are admired and respected by other adults.

To invest in their child's future, parents should visit www.starlawest.com to register. For more information contact Starla West at 812-760-6336 or starla@starlawest.com.
